St. Louis de Montfort, Priest ~ Feast day Apr 28

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

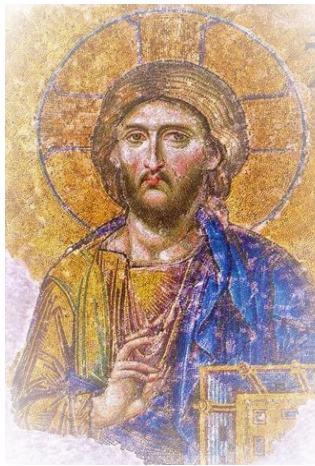

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free. The Sunday 11:00 am Mass will always include the use of incense.

Invitation to the R.C.I.A.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. Please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or use the "Contact us" link on the parish webpage.

Signage on the Path of Life

Near my hometown are the remains of an old route the locals unofficially call the Road to Nowhere. It used to be a paved road to somewhere, obviously; but as civilization would have it, new thoroughfares proved more useful and the old route was not upgraded, fell into disuse, and was eventually abandoned altogether. If the curious decide to follow the Road to Nowhere as far as it goes, sooner or later they will have to get out of the car and continue on foot. That journey, too, will be aborted in the end, as they find themselves in a jungle of growth that cannot be penetrated.

As sometimes happens in rural communities, the signage concerning this lapsed road has long since fallen away and no one thinks to replace it. After all, the road doesn't go anywhere: Why produce signs for it? As a result, from time to time unsuspecting souls just passing through depart onto the Road to Nowhere and end up, predictably, on a futile journey. It would be far preferable if you knew, from the outset, that the road you're on is a dead end. But in life as well as en route, the signage is sometimes wanting. Never more so than in a time of great uncertainty such as our own.

Signs and wonders

Citizens of the Bible were much more savvy about signs than moderns are—at least, about the sort of signs that count.

While our roads are often littered with postings of every size, shape, and color, giving us more information than is asked for, some of us still have no idea where we're going ultimately. Ancient peoples looked to the heavens for signs and read the movements of the sun, moon, and stars like road maps to the future. They viewed history and current events with the same analytical eye: What is God saying to us in this volcanic eruption, this earthquake, this famine or disease or enemy attack? They also read ancient texts with the conviction that what has been written in the past continues to have significance for now and for later.

This is why Peter does not hesitate to stand in the streets of Jerusalem on Pentecost morning and interpret words attributed to David in Psalm 16 as a prophecy about Jesus. Did King David, laboring over his poems in 1000 B.C., foresee "the resurrection of the Christ" as Peter proclaims with such certainty? If he did, this revelation is overlooked in the stories about David in the books of Samuel, Kings, and Chronicles. Chances are David, constantly battling his enemies and trying to keep his own house in order, didn't spend a whole lot of time imagining what the next 28 generations of his household would be up to. But if he was also a poet, one may presume he spent a little time in contemplation, where ideas bubble up unbidden and what is unknown can become suddenly clear.

As modern people, we have to admit that astrology's heyday is over and interpreting natural events as divine rewards and punishments is probably overrated. We also find the fundamentalist work of proof-texting to be a haphazard affair at best. Anything can be proven biblically, if you have the patience to find the phrases you need—not unlike the way ransom notes can be fashioned from any copy of the local paper with scissors, glue, and fortitude. But something needs to be said for the belief that the divine will is spoken into creation and time and human history. Jesus is our foremost example of that. In some sense, then, there are divine clues, cues, signs, and insights capable of being read by the wise and observant seeker. Where they are and how to interpret them is less certain.

On the Road to Nowhere

Some may be at fault in reading the will of God into every detail of the weather report, while others err in denying that God's purpose is operative at all. Perhaps the disciples en route to Emmaus fall into the second category. At first they had put their faith in Jesus as a mighty prophet of God, but he had been executed. Because the redemption of Israel was what these disciples had in mind, it was obvious to them that they had

HOW TO ATTEND MASS ONLINE

GET OUT OF BED AND GET DRESSED

It will put you in the right mindset for worship

GO THROUGH YOUR NORMAL SUNDAY ROUTINE

Minus the "hurry up, we're late" part

GATHER TOGETHER AS A FAMILY

No multitasking; Mass is a family activity

STREAM TO YOUR LARGEST SCREEN IF POSSIBLE

It will feel like you are really "there"

SING ALONG LOUD AND PROUD

It may feel weird, but it also feels weird to the people leading Mass in an empty church

PREACH WITH THE PRIEST

Take notes and pray after the homily

The celebrating assembly is the community of the baptized who, "by regeneration and the anointing of the Holy Spirit, are consecrated to be a spiritual house and a holy priesthood, that through all the works of Christian men they may offer spiritual sacrifices." This "common priesthood" is that of Christ the sole priest, in which all his members participate:

Mother Church earnestly desires that all the faithful should be led to that full, conscious, and active participation in liturgical celebrations which is demanded by the very nature of the liturgy, and to which the Christian people, "a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a redeemed people," have a right and an obligation by reason of their Baptism.

Catechism of the Catholic Church, 1141

been mistaken about Jesus. It would be foolish to expect that a dead man would save them. Even when they heard the astounding reports of Easter morning, they did not know quite what to make of the news. So they decided to head out of town.

Who knows where they thought they were going? Their intended destination was Emmaus, but the purpose is obscure. Perhaps they were going to seek wise counsel from someone there or to be with family in a dark and confusing time. Maybe they intended to go into hiding or just to get away from the current madness of downtown Jerusalem. Wherever it is they thought they were going, they were spectacularly mistaken. As disciples, the only reasonable direction for them to go is in the direction of Jesus. Him, needless to say, they had lost track of.

Jesus, however, does not lose track of his own. He knew what road they were on and rendezvoused with them there.

Burning hearts, blessed bread

Their hearts were burning, but they did not suspect the Lord's presence. Jesus interpreted scripture with understanding, but they did not recollect the last time someone had done that for them. It was not until the final sign was given in the breaking of the bread that the travelers to Emmaus knew where they were: in the company of Christ. They also knew they were traveling in the perfectly wrong direction, away from the community of faith. Time to get back on the Jerusalem road!

How many of us, traveling in the dark along the Road to Nowhere, wake up in the hour of Eucharist and remember who we are and in whose blessed company we are privileged to stand? Even at midnight, it is not too late to turn back and regain our place among those who believe.

A Little Humor

If you think you got a "lemon" in the Garden of Love then maybe you are not a real "peach" either. Try giving the "lemon" a little squeeze!

My neighbor texted me, "I just made synonym buns!" I texted back, "You mean like grammar use to make?" I haven't heard from her since.

PRAYER DURING AN EPIDEMIC

Lord Jesus, hear our pleas, our Good Shepherd and Divine Physician. We implore your mercy in the wake of an outbreak of serious illness and disease.

Guide our efforts to prevent contagion and make preparations to care for those most vulnerable. Assist all professionals and volunteers who work to eradicate the epidemic now spreading. May our actions be marked by your steadfast love and selfless service and never panic or fear.

Bestow your comfort and healing to the sick, sustain and strengthen them by your grace. May they know your closeness as they carry the cross of illness.

And may all who have been called from this life come to worship you eternally with all the saints as you grant consolation and peace to their mourners. Amen

Holy Mary, Health of the Sick, pray for us.

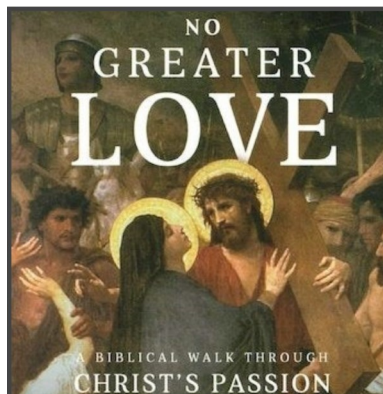

St. Joseph, Hope of the Sick, pray for us.

St. Rocco, protector against epidemics, pray for us.
