FUNERAL MASS AT OUR LADY of GRACE

OLIVE BAUER

Thurs, Dec 27 at 11:00 am

May her soul and the souls of the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

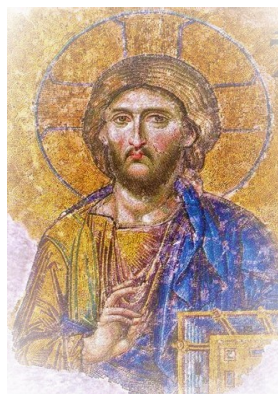

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or feast day will always be incense-free.

Invitation to the RCIA

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the RCIA process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. For more information, please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or jsawaya@olg-church.org.

Incarnation Lessons

There now: Doesn't the church look pretty? You'd have to be a Scrooge not to feel the heightened sense of expectation and wonder that accompanies this season, when the world around us is transformed by lights and colors and music that can only mean one thing: Christmas is on its way. Sure, the retail community works hard to sell us other holidays and make us think of them as "seasons," like Halloween, Valentine's Day, and the Fourth of July. But we know better. These weeks between Thanksgiving and the end of the year are, by any other name, a time unto themselves. Advent is a season set apart because these are weeks of promise. Even those who don't believe that Jesus is coming do believe that Christmas is coming; and strained down to its most secular components, Christmas still seems to be the answer to a great many of the world's problems.

Christmas means warmth and togetherness, generosity, remembrance, and surprise. It is an invitation to care about everyone, even those we routinely ignore or forget. Christmas is the season of peace on earth, a time for draining the moat and lowering the drawbridge, for forgiveness and coming home. It's our annual moral inventory, as well as the chance to become children once more, to dream about the way things used to be—or perhaps could be.

Bucking the trend in the Christian world, I honestly don't worry too much about the secularization of Christmas. I have confidence in this great feast. I think it would be impossible to ruin Christmas, even if you managed to forget that "Jesus is the reason for the season," and even if you take every last explicitly religious sentiment out of it. For the gospel message of Christmas is incarnation, which means the Word of God has decided to take on flesh and run with it. Christmas is a word that has been spoken into our society so deeply that it affects even those who try their best not to observe it. Christmas is our annual opportunity to be born again in spirit and in truth, even if we don't pay homage to the baby lying in the manger. And that is the best testimony to the idea that incarnation works.

The reign of Tiberius

In some ways, the incorporation of this season into the world outside of religious faith only makes sense. According to Luke's gospel, that's how the story began. Luke is anxious to situate Jesus into human history, not just salvation history. Up to now, the previously written gospels (counting Mark and presuming Matthew) have emphasized the significance of Jesus within the story of God's chosen people. Jesus was God's gift to the faithful of Israel. But Luke locates Jesus within the reign of the great empire of his age, specific to a particular Roman governor, three somewhat suspicious Jewish monarchs, and a high priest or two. Jesus is not simply born into the sweeping saga of the Bible. Jesus is born into time, and into the world.

This is also why Luke elongated his genealogy of Jesus. Mark did not include one, rendering Jesus peculiarly without patrimony. Matthew traced Jesus back to Abraham, anchoring him securely to the Jewish revelation. But Luke connects the dots between Jesus and Adam, as if to suggest that what is happening in this birth has ramifications for the whole human race, not just for the obscure believers of a religious story that has yet to exceed its regional significance.

John says it all

Luke's shaping of the story makes John's message, announced in the earlier gospels, sound new in this context. When John says "every" valley shall be filled, it sounds more global than the mere terrain of Judea. When he insists that "all flesh shall see the salvation of God," the implication is greater than the people of Israel. Baruch's prophecy of this event was tight and parochial, but today we couple it with Paul's message to the Gentiles of Philippi, evidence that the word has already gone beyond Jerusalem and is on its way to the heart of the empire—which was the "world" as Luke knew it.

Prepare the way of the Lord, John once cried out, to all the earth. And in this season of Advent, that way is still being prepared. The

The Events Committee thanks everyone who attended last Saturday's Christmas Dinner Dance—all 265 of you! Volunteers made this occasion possible so thank you to the ladies of the CWC, the ICF, Knights, the youth of the parish, and parishioners who do not belong to one of the previously mentioned organizations. Thanks also to Flour Power Cakery who provided five Christmas-themed decorated cakes, and to Santa for making time in his busy schedule and coming by for a visit! Three gifts cards were presented to those wearing the ugliest sweaters and two gift cards served as door prizes. David Whitson, grandson of long-time parishioner John Swanke, now deceased, was our D.J.. Two gentlemen from our parish helped the rest of us with dance moves. END OF YEAR STOCK AND/OR IRA DONATION INFOStock Donations

A gift of your securities, including stocks or mutual funds, is an easy way to make a gift. By making a gift of your appreciated securities, you can avoid paying capital gains tax that would otherwise be due if you sold these assets. Contributions are deductible for tax purposes. There are no transaction fees or other costs and the full value of the sold securities benefits the parish, school or other Catholic charity you select.

More importantly, the question you may want to consider is this: Have I been blessed with many gifts and am I inspired by Gospel teaching and my Catholic values that charitable giving is a profound and joy-inspiring expression of love and gratitude? How can I live out my Catholic values and put them into action for the greater good of the community? Your stock contribution will help you live out your Catholic values and benefit your parish or school at the same time.

For more information on making a gift please visit our diocesan website at www.sdcatholic.org and click on Giving – Stock Donations at the top of the website. Or, you may contact the Office for Stewardship, Manny Aguilar, at (858) 490-8294 or call Daniel Pritchard at Merrill Lynch, the Diocese's broker, at (760) 930-3122.

IRA Required Minimum Distributions

As scripture reads, "Jesus said, Give and it will be given to you...For the measure you give will be in turn, the measure that you get back." After years of contributing to tax-deferred IRAs and 401(k)s, income tax is due on that money when a person withdraws it in retirement. Annual withdrawals from traditional retirement accounts are required after age 70½. But, IRA owners that are 70½ or older may make charitable contributions of up to $100,000 per year directly to an eligible charity (e.g., Catholic Parish, School, Foundation, etc.) without paying income tax on the transaction. If you file a joint return, your spouse may also make a charitable contribution of up to $100,000, meaning couples can exclude up to $200,000 of their retirement savings from income tax if they donate it to a charity. Qualified charitable contributions must be made by December 31 each year in order to exclude that amount from income.

Charitable contributions can only be made from IRAs, not 401(k)s or similar types of retirement accounts. Donors might need to roll funds over from a 401(k) to an IRA if they want to make tax-free charitable contributions part of their retirement plan. A donor doesn't need to itemize their taxes in order to make an IRA charitable distribution. Donors should consult with their personal tax advisors on the donations and the tax implications. Donors may make these donations directly to the parish, school or ministry of their choice or they may make it through the Diocese of San Diego at no additional cost. Contact the Office for Stewardship, Manny Aguilar, at (858) 490-8294 or maguilar@sdccatholic.org for more information.

old-fashioned biblical approach to filling the valleys and lowering the mountains still applies. We have to live in peace with our neighbor, see that justice is done, mend our broken relationships, and wait in joyful hope for what is coming. Even folks with few religious leanings make efforts to do all this just for the sake of Christmas morning! Those of us who await something far greater can do no less.

The baptism of repentance

I'm not saying that Jesus isn't the reason for the season, or that we can throw the baby out with the manger and not lose something crucial. But the Incarnation of God in Christ—a reality for those who believe—has tangible results resounding in a season of kindness, generosity, and peace even for those who don't give Jesus a second thought. This isn't terrible; it's actually a wonderful starting point for the pronouncement of good news.

And the good news has to come from those who have heard it: That's us. We begin in the ancient way, as John bids us, with repentance. This makes Advent sound a little like Lent (and historically, it was exactly like Lent, down to the fasting and length of the season). If we want to begin something new, we have to give up something old, like the banal habits of sin that separate us from God and one another. In this season epitomized by the birth of a child, we can participate most wholeheartedly by becoming those little children to whom the Kingdom most perfectly comes. If we believers do that, society's Christmas will not lack its incarnate message.
