Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

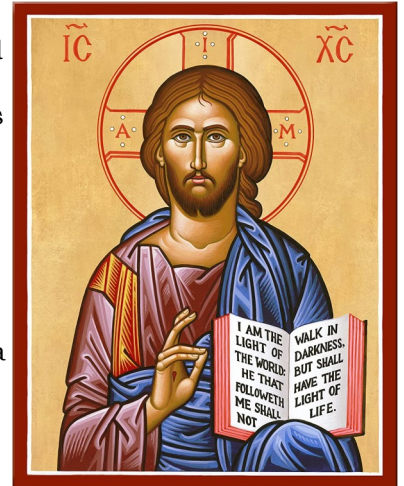

Welcome to all members and visitors who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist.

If you have been away from the Church for a little while or for quite some time, but now feel a tug at your heart calling you back to the Catholic Church, welcome home!

If you feel drawn to the Catholic Church yet come from another faith tradition - or have no faith experience at all - we are glad you are here!

The Catholic Church has been teaching truth since she was founded by Christ over 2,000 years ago. We invite you to enrich your life through joining our parish family. In addition to our liturgies there are many ministries and service groups that help you to build friendships and serve our parish along with the greater community. We also offer life-long learning through our many faith formation opportunities for children and adults.

For baptized Catholics needing to complete their Sacraments of Initiation please contact Deacon John Sawaya at: jsawaya@olg-church.org. For those interested in joining the Catholic Church, please also contact Deacon John Sawaya. You can also contact him by using the "Contact us" link at olg-church.org.

Allergies

The first morning Mass of a holy day will always be incense-free.

Mindfulness of Others

Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy to avoid distracting those around you.

What is Your Spiritual Motto?

By: Regis J. Flaherty

Bishops have them. Many popes, too. Some are in Latin, while others are in the vernacular. Often they are incorporated into a coat of arms. They are called “mottos.”

The motto of Cardinal George is “Christo Gloria in Ecclesia” (To Christ be glory in the Church) which is inspired by Heb 13:20 and by the motto of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Bishop Daniel Conlon of Joliet’s is “take courage.” Many will recall that Pope John Paul II used “Totus Tuus” as his motto. By it he lovingly dedicated himself to the Blessed Mother: “Totally yours.”

Father Jovian Lang in his Dictionary of the Liturgy writes; “[An ecclesiastical] motto is a brief sentence by which the owner ... expresses a high thought that he intends to make his rule of life.”

Many saints embraced aphorisms, as well. St. Josemaria Escriva’s personal motto was Deo omnis gloria, “to God be all glory.” Religious orders have mottos. St. Ignatius Loyola chose a motto for his Society of Jesus, i.e. the Jesuits. He told them to do all “for the greater glory of God,” ad maiorem Dei gloriam.

As aphorisms are helpful for bishops, saints and religious orders, they can also be helpful for you and me. Adolph Tanquerey in “The Spiritual Life” writes: “We must ... aim at burying deep into our souls some directing thoughts, and then embody them in a maxim that makes them real and keeps them before our mind, such as: ‘My God and my all! ... God alone suffices! ... To be with Jesus is a sweet paradise!’ With a motto of this kind, we shall more easily triumph over ill-ordered passions and make a right use of well-ordered one” (no. 798).

How do you find your motto? First, examine yourself. Where is God moving in your life right now? Is there a virtue He wants you to develop? Perhaps it is trust in God or greater charity. Are you “hearing” that still small voice (see 1 Kgs 19:12) in your soul calling you onward as a Christian?

When you have identified the topic, find a phrase or brief sentence that embodies the thought. You may find it within Scripture. It may be a phrase that brings to your mind a story or longer passage in Scripture.

For example, the phrase “Domine, ut videam” is taken from the story of Jesus healing a blind man. Jesus asked the man what he wanted and the blind beggar responded, “Lord that I might see!” and Jesus gave new sight. So when I called that one phrase to mind, it was in the context of that longer story and how it applied to my situation.

You may also find that someone else’s motto fits your situation. Someone who is struggling with submission to church teaching could adopt the motto of Pope John XXIII: Obedientia et Pax, Obedience and Peace. Or you might identify your spiritual marching orders with the maxim of Pope Pius X: “To restore all things in Christ.”

Your motto may come as a pious thought from your personal prayer or from the writings of a spiritual author. It may be a petition from a popular prayer, such as “Hallowed be Thy name” from the Our Father, which could help you in developing godly ways of speaking and acting.

Own your motto

Once you have found the aphorism that fits you, make it your own. Post it somewhere where you are sure to notice it: on your computer screen, on the refrigerator, on a bathroom mirror, or frame it and place it on your desk or somewhere in your work space. I’ve been in homes where the motto is painted on the bedroom or living room wall.

Also, don’t just say it; pray it. Whatever that phrase or sentence triggers in your mind, take it to our Lord and ask him to take it from your lips and establish it in your heart and mind.

A spiritual maxim doesn’t need to be only for an individual. A family could adopt a family motto, such as “united in love of Jesus” or a phrase based on a Scripture such as Joshua 24:15, “As for this house, we will serve the Lord!” The family could repeat it as part of their prayer before a meal, or say it when leaving or returning home. Family members might find opportunities to reflect on the practical application of the family motto during family meetings or group prayer.

Also, you can revise your motto at different stages of your life to reflect changes in life situations. For example, the maxim for a single man might need to be changed when he marries.

St. Paul tells us, “Do not conform yourselves to this age but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and pleasing and perfect” (Rom 12:2). A motto can be a valuable tool in our response to that encouragement of St. Paul — establishing God’s Kingdom in our hearts, minds, and actions.

VBS: Following Jesus Changes the Game!

This past July 10-14, Vacation Bible School participants got to experience the Gospel in fun, exciting and memorable ways. Participants engaged in games like balloon tennis and bowling, while also creating their own board games and other art projects. The themes of love, respect and faith were emphasized during daily discussions on various Bible stories. Participants were also given the opportunity to learn about inspiring Saints like St. Peter and St. Kateri Tekakwitha. We thank all those who made this year's VBS a success; the organizers, volunteers, participants and their parents!
