We are All One in Our Common Humanity

"In prayer there are no rich or poor;
 no sons or daughters,
 no first or second class.
 We are all one in our common humanity.
 In prayer God keeps calling us,
 opening our hearts to charity."

~Pope Francis

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

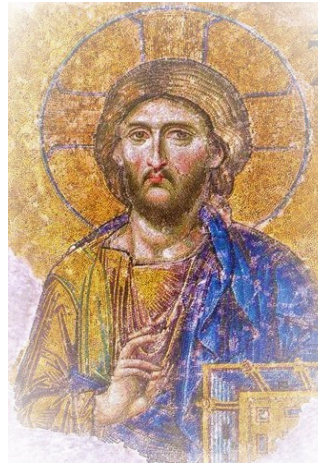

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free. The Sunday 11:00 am Mass will often include the use of incense.

Invitation to the R.C.I.A.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. Please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or use the "Contact us" link on the parish webpage.

GUEST COLUMNIST

ALICE CAMILLE

Burdens Galore

Look out over the average assembly and what do you see? For one thing, you see that there is no average assembly. A parish in a wealthy suburb may present a sea of nicely dressed and clean-shaven folk, none of whom seem to have gone gray despite their AARP cards. In a city parish, exhausted young mothers pass out Cheerios to pacify squirming children, while homeless folk sleep in the back pew or wander the aisles in agitation, presenting the constant possibility of a full-scale liturgical interruption. In a small town, ministers have cleaned as much soot from under their nails as possible for Sunday morning, while the unemployed slump despondently next to the children they are unsure how to feed. In all of these parishes and many others, people bring their burdens to church. In that sense, then, there is an average assembly; which is to say, everybody's got problems.

You don't have to watch the evening news to find out what people are worried about. Think back on the past year of ministry. The bereaved family carried their loss to the church. The woman seeking an annulment from a bruising marriage was sitting in the congregation. So were the teenagers anxious about their burgeoning sexual awareness, the families in financial crisis, the depressed office worker who could hardly function on the job anymore, the mother of the boy who was arrested, the gay man who felt rejected and denied by God and the church, the woman who'd just been diagnosed with cancer. People have all sorts of troubles with their relationships, their health, their careers, and their bank accounts. They worry about moral choices and what God thinks of them, too. They wonder if anything they do has meaning. They suspect sometimes that they have made irredeemable mistakes.

Come to me

A stockbroker who'd been raised in a Catholic family was in trouble, and he knew it. He made a lot of money and enjoyed a fabulous lifestyle, but none of that mattered anymore. He drank too much; he lived to drink. It was starting to affect his career. It had already cost him many significant relationships. He was lonely. He was full of self-loathing. He didn't know what else to do, so one Saturday night he stumbled into the nearest church, something he hadn't done in a long time. He didn't come for anything in particular—impulse and buried memory had brought him there. He sat in the pew uncomfortably and looked into the face of a small boy in the arms of his father in the pew ahead of him. The child was smiling at him over the father's shoulder. He returned the smile painfully. Mass was in progress, and the stockbroker had arrived in time for the gospel: "Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest." Rest! Tears sprang up in the troubled man's eyes. Wouldn't it be astonishing, wonderful, incredible, to find rest somewhere? To find it, so simply and unreservedly, in the embrace of Jesus?

The small boy smiled benignly at him again from the forward pew. The man took it as a sign from God. He wept, rocking and softly repeating those saving words: Come to me, come to me.

You will find rest

The story above is true. The stockbroker later became a priest and is now preaching the same gospel he once heard so acutely. But it's a true story in more ways than one. These words from Jesus are immensely powerful, and we cannot discount how important they could be to someone, or many someones, you preach to this weekend. Say them like you mean them, like you believe them. Do you believe them? It will help if you do.

We all know that religion isn't just about consolation—but there is consolation in it for those who seek and find the arms of Jesus. And we face a world out there badly in need of some good news, something to hope for, something to help with the pain of living. Some folks will turn to therapy, Prozac, and 12-step programs, and some would be well advised to do so. But others will move deeper into addiction, numbness, bitterness, or despair. Jesus offers to take up all these burdens and to make possible what seems absolutely impossible. That is his offer, and he is most serious.

People will ask: But how can you know this? We have only to point at the cross. Some may wonder: How you can trust someone you do not know to help you? Ah, but we do know him. We can share our experiences. Folks will look to us to show how Jesus makes a difference in our lives. Let's hope we have some evidence of this! The people in the parish will say: Please don't lie to me. It would hurt too much to hope and be disappointed again. So we must be sure that we tell the gospel truth and not some platitude we were told ourselves that allows us to hide the suffering world away.

A dominion from sea to sea

No one and nothing is beyond the compassion of Jesus. Sinners, lawbreakers, and others who feel unclean are welcome to come to him. It is our job to issue the invitation and to make that welcome authentic. I know a priest who, at the start of every Mass, acknowledges Catholics who have been away with an encouraging word. Another greets Christians of other denominations and those of other faiths who may be worshipping with us. Statistics bear out that there are lots in both categories in our midst. We might also greet those who almost didn't worship today, those who are not yet sure of the forgiveness of God or the love of Christ. If our communities hear a word that speaks to them and rouses their faith, they may be tempted to come back for more.

A Little Humor

- In a moment of creative inspiration, the entrepreneur who owned the coin-op laundry beside the church commissioned this sign for his window: "Where cleanliness IS next to Godliness!"
- A little boy in church for the first time watched as the ushers passed around the offering plates. When they came near his pew the boy said loudly, "Don't pay for me, Daddy, I'm under five!"
- Q: What did the skunk say when the wind changed?
A: It's all coming back to me now!
- Did you hear the one about a guy who got hit in the head with a can of soda? Luckily for him it was a soft drink!

Welcome, Marc Gandolfo

ATheology, Yr II seminarian for the Diocese of San Diego, Marc will be with us here at OLG through mid-August on a summer internship.

Born on Aug 24, 1994 in Oceanside, CA, Marc has two loving parents and three older siblings, all of whom are married and are starting families of their own. He attended St. Francis of Assisi Parish School in Vista and became heavily involved with his family at the same parish. After high school, a year of college studying broadcast journalism, and a year of working in youth ministry leading retreats for high school students preparing for Confirmation, he was hired to serve as Coordinator of Youth Ministry at his home parish. It was during this time that started to discern a priestly vocation. He entered priestly formation in the fall of 2016 and spent the next three years at the St. Francis Center located near USD studying philosophy. After graduating in 2019 with a BA in Philosophy and a minor in Theology, Bishop McElroy sent him to Mount Angel Seminary in Oregon for Theological studies.

You can learn more about Marc's vocation story by watching his Diocese of San Diego Office for Vocations four minute video at <https://youtu.be/09w8Tp-nerc>. His is the first of a series of vocation stories from San Diego seminarians.

"The Lord gives each of us a vocation, a challenge to discover the talents and abilities we possess and to put them at the service of others."

 - + The Martyrs of China were canonized in 2000 and are honored collectively as the patron saints of China.
- The Christian Faith was introduced in China in the 5th century and the first church was built there in the 7th century. During the Tang Dynasty (618-907), the Christian community flourished. The first Chinese diocese was established in Beijing in the 13th century.
