Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

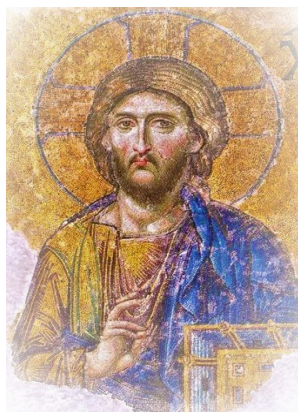

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holyday will always be incense-free.

Invitation to the RCIA

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the RCIA process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. For more info, please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or jsawaya@olg-church.org.

The Sacrament that Defines Us

Where did the feast originally known as Corpus Christi come from? Many believers will be hard pressed to explain the difference between Maundy Thursday and the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, and for good reason. Both celebrate the events of the Last Supper and how Jesus sealed his relationship with his friends for all time in surrendering his life for them as food. Sources as early as the fourth century attest to the commemoration of the Last Supper during Passion Week. Corpus Christi, however, did not become a universal feast of the church until 1264.

The best explanation for the official recognition of the second feast is that the first one became overloaded. By the seventh century, Holy Thursday was also the day when penitents were publicly reconciled to the church, and by the eighth century it became the day for blessing the holy oils (later separated out as the Chrism Mass). But as the word “Maundy” suggests (from the Latin phrase mandatum novum or “new command”), Holy Thursday has been most familiarly associated with the ritual of the washing of the feet since the 13th century. The original emphasis on the origin of our Eucharist was crowded into a forest of symbol and ritual. In a week already dominated by the sadness of Christ’s Passion, some felt that a more joyful celebration of the institution of the sacrament might be better observed when it could properly assume the spotlight.

The dark spot on the moon

The early church fathers exhorted believers to fix their gaze on the host regularly. Each day the faithful had the opportunity to look upon the same body that was given up for their sake, and it would be a grave mistake to forego that opportunity. Christians became preoccupied with the vow to see the host on the day they were to die—and because most of us don’t know what day that is, it required daily visits to the church where the permanent presence of the Eucharist resided in the tabernacle. Contemplation of the host became more widespread than receiving Communion. The exposition of the Blessed Sacrament was popularized on certain feast days, and by the 16th century, “Forty Hours” of adoration were practiced.

It was in this devotional climate in the 13th century that Juliana of Mont Cornillon (a.k.a. Juliana of Liège) became the proponent of a special feast day for the Body and Blood of Christ. Juliana, born in what is now Belgium, received a vision of a bright moon marred by one dark spot. She perceived it as an image of the church in the absence of one great solemnity. Through her efforts and in the face of much contradiction and personal suffering, Juliana won adherents to her cause, most notably a local cleric who would become Pope Urban IV and would elevate the feast to universal recognition. Thomas Aquinas himself wrote the text for the liturgy, which has been much admired by Catholics and Protestants alike for capturing the beauty of our Eucharist.

The Body and the Blood

The story of the loaves and fishes we hear today reminds us of the abundance we are offered when it is the Lord who sets the table. Our feast day is celebrated in the name of the Body and Blood of Christ to clarify what the solemnity always intended to commemorate: the total gift of Christ that is available to the church. We eat this bread and drink this cup, but that is not all.

We are the Body and Blood of Christ as well. We who receive the sacrament of the church become, as one theologian put it, the sacrament for the world at large. When we embrace the Christian vocation to be sacrament—the medium of God’s presence, grace, and compassion among us—then this solemnity reaches the fullness of its meaning. So long as we honor only the sacred elements on the table, we render the vitality of this event to an inert expression of piety.

Jesus gives out food to the multitude, to detractors as well as disciples, believing and doubtful alike, ready or not. Until we are prepared to bring ourselves as food to society at large and do not adjudicate between the deserving and the undeserving as Dorothy Day warned we are tempted to do, then the miracle of loaves and fishes putters to a stop in this generation, the basket finally and fatally empty.

The story is told of the Curé of Ars, who came upon a

2019 Missionary Cooperation Plan

This weekend we welcome Fr. Gerry Aman, SJ, to OLG. Fr. Jerry has been working in Africa for 34 years, both in Nigeria and in Zimbabwe, in a number of apostolates. He is presently involved with the formation of young Jesuits from 17 African countries. In addition, Fr. Aman serves as the Administrator of the Jesuit School of Philosophy, Arrupe Jesuit University, in Harare, Zimbabwe. Funds received as a result of his appeal this weekend will be used in support of Jesuit formation and to assist those in need in orphanages, homes for the elderly, a L'Arche community for the disadvantaged, and a school for extremely poor children from government-displaced families. Gifts may be made by way of the yellow envelopes marked "Missionary Cooperation Plan" found in the pews or by way of the parish website. In advance, thank you for your generosity.

Quilters Wanted!

OLG's Prayer Quilt Ministry welcomes new members at any time. In existence for 13 years, our prayer quilt ministry has delivered over 2,500 quilts to provide peace and comfort to those in need. We also donate comfort pillows for mastectomy patients. There are many tasks for helping hands besides sewing! Our friendly group meets in Lauerman Hall at 9:00 am on the 2nd and 4th Saturdays of each month. Work at home is available. For more information, please leave a message for Nettie at (619) 469-0133 or come for a Saturday meeting.

2019 Craft Fair Scheduled

OLG's Catholic Women's Club is holding their Annual Craft Fair on Nov 2 & 3 in the Parish Center. Applications to be a vendor/crafter in this annual event will be mailed July 8 to those on our mailing list; however, registered parishioners of OLG who would like to participate as a vendor/crafter may contact Kathy Porterfield at (619) 980-6841 for an application for early registration.

Peter's Pence Collection

Next week, envelopes will be available for the Peter's Pence Collection, which provides Pope Francis with the funds he needs to carry out his charitable works around the world. The proceeds benefit our brothers and sisters on the margins of society, including victims of war, oppression, and natural disasters. Thank you for your generosity in supporting this annual collection. For more info, visit uscgb.org/peters-pence.

2019 ANNUAL CATHOLIC APPEAL

humbly dressed old man sitting before the Tabernacle greatly intent upon it. "What are you doing here, hour after hour?" the cleric asked the fellow. The old man replied with great simplicity: "I look at him. He looks at me."

This rapt attention to the Real Presence has a surprising dynamic component. Contemplation is not merely looking at God but the awareness that God has an eye on us as well and is fully intent on us, as lovers are when they gaze in wordless adoration at one another. This kind of contemplation is likewise conversation, sharing and revealing the self to another at a passionately deep level. What passes between lovers in the time of adoration brings them one step closer to union. Once united, the two become identified as one and are inseparable in profound ways. So we become inseparable from the identity of Christ in our reception and contemplation of the sacrament.

Claiming the identity

Contemporary worship has moved away from pockets of silence and opportunities for contemplation. We might see this as an invitation to encourage other specifically contemplative hours both communal and private for the edification of our communities. But it is important that contemplation go hand in hand with the practice of receiving the sacrament and that identifying ourselves within the Body of Christ remains the goal of both practices. Any sacrament that stops at the door of the church lacks the component of generosity Jesus demonstrated to the multitude. If our lives do not become food for the world as a result, we turn the grace of the sacrament into a selfish act.
