POPE FRANCIS' PRAYER TO MARY DURING THE CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

Mary,
you always shine on our path
as a sign of salvation and of hope.
We entrust ourselves to you,
Health of the Sick,
who at the cross took part in Jesus' pain,
keeping your faith firm.
You, Salvation of the Roman People, know what we need,
and we are sure you will provide so that, as in Cana of Galilee, we may return to joy and to feasting
after this time of trial.
Help us, Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who has taken upon himself our sufferings

and carried our sorrows to lead us, through the cross,
to the joy of the resurrection. Amen.

Under your protection, we seek refuge, Holy Mother of God. Do not disdain the entreaties of we who are in trial, but deliver us from every danger, O glorious and blessed Virgin.

The event status' in this bulletin were accurate as of Mar 24. Visit olg-church.org or the website listed in the article for the most current information.

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free. The Sunday 11:00 am Mass will always include the use of incense.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults."

If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. Please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or use the "Contact us" link on the parish webpage.

GUEST COLUMNIST

ALICE CAMILLE

Using the “D” Word

Try having a talk about death and see where it gets you. Talk to your parents about making a will, and they come up with a million reasons not to have this conversation. Scan the newspaper in time of war and count the euphemisms for the dead: “casualties,” “collateral damage,” “losses.” Look for signs of dying and death around the suburbs, and you won’t see them. People rarely die at home anymore in the context of family and community. Instead, they are whisked off to institutions like hospitals, nursing homes, and assisted-care situations where the rest of us seldom witness, much less engage, the realities of the final days.

Instead, we have a society that prefers to Botox and color away the stamp of aging from our bodies and a cult of youth that celebrates only one end of life and disparages—even denies—the other. We don’t want to use the “D” word in polite conversation, as if it described something obscene and shocking. At the recent funeral of a loved one, a woman proclaimed in total disbelief, “It never occurred to me that Eddie would die!” But how could it not occur to us that someone would die, that all of us are marked for death and bound for it from the moment we are conceived? Here’s the challenge for the modern Christian preacher: to talk about resurrection and afterlife to an assembly that is out of touch with the inevitability of death. It’s really tough to announce good news about graves being opened when many of us have no intention of ever dying at all.

At death’s door

Yet the gospel brings us death in all its vigorous pathos. First, there is the call of anguish from Martha and Mary: Illness has descended like a dark angel upon their home and threatens the life of their brother. But Jesus does not go to them. He does not deny that Lazarus will die, but neither does he confirm the finality of such an event: “This illness will not end in death.” Appearances are deceiving. Sometimes what looks like the end is actually the start of something more.

When Jesus does turn toward Judea, his disciples protest on the grounds of their own fear of death: “They nearly stoned you last time we were there!” As usual, they have failed to appreciate what Jesus said about death not having the last word in human affairs. While death may not be avoidable, it is not ultimately victorious. As Saint Paul might put it, if you can open the door of death and pass beyond it, it loses its sting.

Isn’t that the very image Ezekiel uses in his oracle about the rebirth of Israel? God opens graves and breathes flesh back onto bones and spirit back into matter. No door is so closed that God cannot open it, not even the rock rolled against the mouth of a tomb.

Death stings on this side

The sting of death may not be evident to the one who has died, of course, but it is apparent to those left behind in mourning. At the death of Lazarus, Martha is consumed with a rage that propels her to meet Jesus along the road and accuse him; her sister Mary, paralyzed by sorrow, remains at home. Death does not make Jesus angry, but the sight of his grieving friends does make him weep. Death’s blows fall with unequal force on the side of the living, and it is for the sake of the living, not for Lazarus, that Jesus performs this greatest of his signs in John’s gospel.

Lazarus is called out, and out he comes, for no one can deny the word of life when it speaks, any more than creation could have refused to emerge from the primordial void. The story may seem to have its apex in the loosing of Lazarus from death and from his burial bands, but actually the crux of the story comes earlier, in the exchange between Jesus and Martha. This is primarily a story about belief, not a story about death at all. The appearance of the enshrouded Lazarus at the mouth of the tomb is very dramatic, but we know of course that he will have to die again and this revival of his earthly life is a temporary

20 VERSES TO HELP DURING ANXIETY AND FEAR

1. "When I am afraid, I put my trust in you." Psalm 56:3
2. "Peace is what I leave with you; it is my own peace that I give you. I do not give it as the world does. Do not be worried and upset; do not be afraid." John 14:27
3. "For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind." 2 Timothy 1:7
4. "Do not be anxious about anything, but in every situation, by prayer and petition, with thanksgiving, present your requests to God. And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:6-7
5. "So do not fear, for I am with you; do not be dismayed, for I am your God. I will strengthen you and help you; I will uphold you with my righteous right hand." Isaiah 41:10
6. "Immediately he spoke to them and said, 'Take courage! It is I. Don't be afraid.'" Mark 6:50
7. "The Lord is my light and my salvation-whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life-of whom shall I be afraid?" Psalm 27:1
8. "God is our refuge and strength, an ever-present help in trouble." Psalm 46:1

state of affairs. What is most important is the answer Martha gives—and we each must consider—to the question Jesus poses: "I am the resurrection and the life; do you believe this?"

When we stand in the presence of death, or more sharply in the hour of our own death, the question takes on greater significance than when we dwell in the disavowal of mortality that characterizes our culture. If death is simply too distasteful a topic to consider, then resurrection becomes a fairy tale that does not concern us. Yet at the same time that we deny death, we are immersed in what the pope calls a "culture of death," which includes the numbing litany of abortion, euthanasia, capital punishment, war, injustice, racism, and the acceptance of poverty and violence against those different from ourselves. One could argue that our refusal to acknowledge the reality of death makes it all the easier for the seeds of death to grow up all around us.

Facing death and life

Moses put the question neatly to the nation gathered at the base of Mount Sinai: "Today I set before you death and life. Choose life, that you may live." This statement hardly presumes that those who deliberately choose life won't die, but choosing life does orient us like the hands on a compass against the culture of death and its assumptions of what's expedient or inevitable. Out of the primordial void, God originally chose to call forth life. The choice for life remains God's preference and intention, so much so that God opened the door of the tomb to usher us through to more and fuller life.
