Complimentary coffee, juice and donuts. Contributions not necessary but gratefully accepted. Proceeds benefit OLG School's Tuition Assistance Fund, the Gerard Family Endowment for Catholic Education.

The Sisters of the Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Queen of Peace are grateful for your donations of Halloween Candy and toiletries for the families they serve in Mexico. Thank you for your generosity!

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free.

Invitation to the R.C.I.A.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. For more info, please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or jsawaya@olg-church.org.

The Imperative of the Present

Many of us, admittedly, live in the past or the future a good bit of the time. Past-dwellers can be divided into groups: the nostalgists who think the past is much too good to leave behind and those who rubberneck their personal histories with all the gruesome fascination of a car wreck. In the same way, future-dwellers come in two kinds: those who eagerly await the future as the ultimate antidote to all that ails us and those who agonize about what's ahead to the point of requiring ulcer medicine. In the twin obsessions with long ago and later, the members of all four clubs stand to lose the pearl of great price. The only moment that counts—that is, the hour of purpose and possibility—is the present. Our addiction to the past is certainly understandable. So far we've lived a great deal of our lives there, and some of it was pretty good. Certainly the songs were memorable, and nobody makes movies like that anymore. Try buying tomatoes like the ones we used to get, or buying anything near the quality of what used to be. Liturgy was grander, the streets were cleaner, the environment was healthier, and eating meat wasn't going to drive you crazy.

For better or for worse

But then there was the bad stuff. Let us count the ways just in the relatively recent past: the Holocaust, wars galore, assassinations, and terror attacks, for starters. More personally, every one of us has known dark hours that took years to move beyond, and some of us are still trying to salvage ourselves from the wreckage of our own histories. For many people, the past is a shrine composed of glory days and nightmares, both of which keep us in thrall to what was and cannot be again.

Future junkies go the other way. The enthusiasts are often young people and all too soon they'll get over it. Technology will prove to be, not the god it pretends to be, but only the Golden Calf, a false savior of health, time, and labor. Harmony and understanding won't rush in with the dawn of Aquarius or the next government. When we finally meet E.T., he won't be any more together than we are. Future worriers, of course, will discover some of their fears realized, and others merely phantoms. Either way it won't matter, because addictive worriers will already be embarked on the next great season of fretting.

How can we escape our obsessive orbit of past or future? By embracing the present and refusing to live anywhere else. This is not the path of least resistance by any means: The present has all kinds of grisly elements that might send the faint of heart screaming into the time tunnel and frantically pushing all available buttons. But a brave new world cannot be had by those who seek to escape the here and now. Those fueled by bitterness, disappointment, or nostalgia idolize the past and will feed the present and future to it as a sacrificial offering. Those motivated by fear, anxiety, or misplaced hopes allow tomorrow to rule over today like a ruthless dictator. The only way to overthrow these powers and principalities is to surrender totally to divine grace, which operates in the "holy now" of God's everlasting presence. Now is the hour when Christ is King. The Kingdom we await is always "at hand."

Kingdom now

How do we know this? Luke is the evangelist of the holy now. Mary announces the imperative of the present hour in her canticle: "Behold, from now on will all ages call me blessed." Simeon echoes it in his: "Now, Master, you may let your servant go in peace." The angels in Bethlehem take up the refrain: "For today in the city of David, a savior has been born for you." And Jesus preaches the same in the synagogue at Nazareth, "Today this scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing."

The imperative to commit to today is spelled out in the conditions for discipleship: If anyone wishes to follow Jesus, he or she must take up the cross daily. Zacchaeus is told that salvation arrives at his house today. Likewise the repentant thief on the cross is assured that he will attain Paradise today. No one is asked to take a number, to come back tomorrow, or to bide his or her time. The moment of action is always now. The eternal God doesn't use a date planner. If something is worth doing, we might say, it's worth doing at once. When asked by the Pharisees when the promised Kingdom would arrive, Jesus replied, “The coming of the kingdom of God cannot be observed, and no one will announce, ‘Look, here it is,’ or ‘There it is.’ For behold, the kingdom of God is among you.” In plain speech, Jesus introduced the reign of God breaking into time and taking a chair in our midst. Maybe heaven can wait, but the Kingdom is in the room.

Christ our King

The folks at Hebron knew just what to do when David arrived. They claimed him as their king. But many Christians seem uncertain that Christ is King, or that citizenship in his Kingdom is our primary allegiance. It could be a matter of terminology: Kingship is off-putting in a democratic age. Paul preferred the phrase: Jesus is Lord. Authority has become such a soiled garment in our times that the idea of ultimate authority seems to have no positive corollary. But sovereignty is the message: the power without peer. For Christians, Jesus is sovereign, and the reign of God trumps every other reality. Essayist Charles Lamb once wrote, “If Shakespeare should come into this room, we would all rise; but if Jesus Christ should come in, we would all kneel.” The sentiment is right, but the use of the conditional, at least with reference to Jesus, is misleading. Jesus Christ is among us and his Kingdom is within us. If Jesus is our King, the time to make our allegiance is now. If we believe the reign of God is among us, it's time to live according to its values.

At our Masses this weekend The Catholic Women's Club and International Catholic Families parish organizations are giving OLG parishioners a "KEEP CHRIST IN CHRISTMAS" magnet as a thank you for your support of our fund-raising efforts during the past several years. CWC and ICF members will be at each door to present you with a magnet. While supplies last after each It is our pleasure to serve our parish, promote our faith and be the hands and feet of Christ in the world!

Thanksgiving Prayer

Lord, we thank you for the goodness of our people and for the spirit of justice that fills this nation.

We thank you for the beauty and fullness of the land and challenge of the cities. We thank you for our work and our rest, for one another, and for our homes.

Accept our thanksgiving this day as we pray: Bless us, O Lord, and these your gifts we are about to receive from your goodness. Through Christ, our Lord. Amen

Stock and IRA Charitable Gift Donations

A gift of your securities, including stocks, mutual funds and IRA Charitable Rollover Distributions are an easy way to make a gift to the Church. By making a gift of your appreciated securities or retirement account, you can avoid paying capital gains tax that may otherwise be due if you sold these assets. Contributions are deductible for tax purposes. There are no transaction fees or other costs and the full value of the sold securities benefits the parish, school or other Catholic charities you select. For more information on making a gift please visit the diocesan website at sdcatholic.org and click on "Giving" at the top of the screen. Or, call Merrill Lynch, the diocese's broker, at (800) 844-0720.
