Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

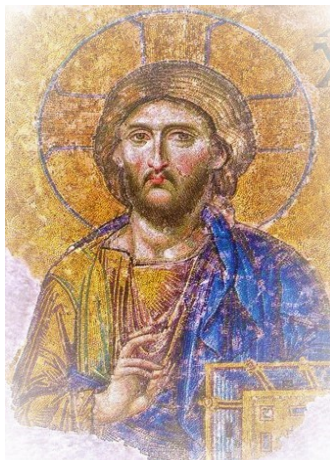

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free.

Invitation to the R.C.I.A.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. For more info, please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or jsawaya@olg-church.org.

Persistence, Convenient and Inconvenient

Some of the great cathedrals of the world took centuries to build. The architects who drew up the plans, the artists who contributed their craft, the patrons who put up the money, and the workers who quarried the stone and laid the foundation knew they would never worship in the building they were helping to construct. Even their children and grandchildren would not enjoy the beauty of this sanctuary. Still, they hauled stone after stone and set it into place. They did it for the future, for a church that was yet to be imagined.

Raising children is an act of total dedication. For about 18 years it's an expensive, time-consuming, heart-rending, sometimes frantic, always vigilant occupation that comes with no guarantees whatsoever. There is no question that the lives of people without children are simpler, freer, more economically prosperous, and hold more possibilities for advancement in the professional world. Yet many people in every generation go on to have children anyway.

It is obvious from just these few examples that human beings are willing to labor and be grossly inconvenienced for purposes they consider worthy. There is more to life than personal gain, and happiness is not always had by putting yourself first. Sometimes, total dedication to someone or something beyond yourself is the most enriching and satisfying way to live. And so each generation persists in the pursuit of its dreams.

Persistence in Paul

The writer of the pastoral letter to Timothy urges the leaders of the community to proclaim the word despite all obstacles, just as elsewhere in Paul the faithful are enjoined to pray unceasingly. Is this realistic advice, and are these achievable goals? For saints and martyrs, yes; all others need not apply. It could be argued that, given the strictures and dangers faced by first-century Christians, saints and martyrs were the only kind of Christians in the game. Today this is no longer true, as "faith" has been defined down to imply mere church attendance. This could explain why the word is no longer preached when it's decidedly inconvenient, and prayer takes place largely between 9 and noon on Sunday mornings.

In the biography of Paul, we learn just how darned inconvenient the proclamation of the word could be. The discomforts of the missionary trail, loneliness and misunderstanding, argument and accusation, rejection and arrest, beating and stoning, shipwreck and court trial and eventual beheading are all swept neatly under the term "inconveniences." During the Ephesus years, Paul may well have considered the advantages of pastoring a pleasant little parish like this until retirement, enjoying the perks accorded a popular leader in a supportive community. But that would necessitate certain compromises in a message that was bound to upset the apple cart of powerful people sooner or later. Rather than water down the gospel, Paul got back on the road.

This brings us to the word importunate. It means troublemaker, and one who proclaims the word of God faithfully and well is most certainly that. Importunate is a word that became attached in church tradition to the widow Jesus told a parable about. The woman is a troublemaker, not because she wants something unreasonable, but because she insists on what is right. That spells trouble even in our world today.

Convince, reprimand, encourage

Did the widow use a carrot as well as a stick to get the judge to consent to her demands? Because the fellow is introduced as an unjust man, without fear of God or respect for human beings, chances are the only carrot that would appease him is a bribe, which the widow certainly wasn't about to produce. Her primary weapon in the war of attrition is the word; she irritates him with her refusal to give up and go away quietly, continuing to plead her case until he is prepared to capitulate if only to end the discussion. He is not convinced; he simply raises the white flag. It is the method by which justice often comes into the world.

Jesus assures us that our persistence in prayer will have a greater effect than this, because we bring our claims for justice to One who is on the side of the just to begin with. We should not be afraid to become nuisances for the sake of the Kingdom, storming heaven with our cries for what is right. We cannot pray too many Rosaries or spend too many hours in contemplation. God will not become bored or annoyed with our persistence. If Paul is right, praying unceasingly is praying sufficiently. Anything less is not enough.

WORLD MISSION SUNDAY

Every year something happens on the next-to-last Sunday of October. World Mission Sunday joins all Catholics of the world into one community of faith. At Mass that Sunday, we recommit ourselves to our common vocation, through Baptism, to be missionaries, through prayer, participation in the Eucharist, and by giving generously to the collection for the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

This year, Pope Francis addresses his World Mission Sunday message to us as we live out our baptismal call to be sent forth to evangelize the world. This is the mission that all Christians have received, and God gives us the grace to live it out wherever we may be.

As we pray and respond on World Mission Sunday here at home, we share in those celebrations taking place in every parish, seminary, school and convent all over the world. Together with the Church of Christ on mission in the world, we are baptized and sent, providing the prayerful and financial support necessary to bring the Lord's mercy and concrete help to the most vulnerable communities in the Pope's missions.

In a world where so much divides us, World Mission Sunday rejoices in our unity as missionaries by our Baptism. And it provides an opportunity to support the life-giving presence of the Church among the poor and marginalized in more than 1,111 mission dioceses.
