May their souls and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

Welcome to OUR LADY of GRACE!

Welcome to all who are joining us for the celebration of the Eucharist. There are many ways and parish organizations to participate in our life in Christ. See the directory on page 7.

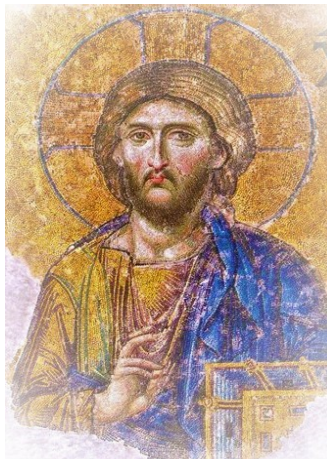

We invite all who attend OLG to become registered members of our parish. Registration forms are available on the table in the main entry of the church or the parish office. Registration allows us to communicate and effectively provide for your needs. It is necessary for baptism, marriage, and godparent or sponsor certification.

Mindfulness of Others—Please silence all devices and refrain from using them during the liturgy. The parish has a Children's Chapel located in the northwest corner of the church. Parents with restless children are welcome to make use of this chapel at any time during Mass should it be necessary. We ask that this chapel, like the church itself, remain free of food and drink.

Allergies—The first morning Mass of the Sunday or holy day will always be incense-free.

Invitation to the R.C.I.A.

Our Lady of Grace Parish welcomes all who seek to enrich their faith life and explore the possibility of becoming a Catholic Christian. Our community shares and celebrates this journey with them through a process called "The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults." If you are curious about what Catholics believe and may be interested in learning more about joining the Catholic faith—or perhaps you are an adult Catholic looking to be fully initiated—you are cordially invited to enter the R.C.I.A. process and experience a new and enriched meaning to your life through renewed faith and love. For more info, please contact Deacon John Sawaya at (858) 869-5079 or jsawaya@olg-church.org.

GUEST COLUMNIST

ALICE CAMILLE

Knowing and Unknowing

I had a friend who did everything right. Heidi kept the weight off, joined the gym, ate smart, drank little, and lived free of stress. And still she died of cancer at the age of 40. At her funeral, there was universal agreement that Heidi shouldn't have died, that she'd earned the right to more years. Although we are born into this world with no guarantees except the certainty of death, many people felt this woman got a raw deal. Why did Joe, sitting in the third pew with his huge potbelly and three-pack-a-day cigarette habit, continue to rack up birthdays, while Heidi's children mourned her loss?

People derived different lessons from this sad event. One was to eat, drink, and be merry, and forget what the doctors say. Good stewardship of your health was foolish if cancer could still take you out at midlife. Others speculated on what Heidi must have done wrong: Did she cheat on her health regime in private? Had she lived near a nuclear reactor or done drugs in her youth? Finally there were those who felt a stricter and more extensive health program was the answer. Perhaps a totally organic vegetarian diet—lived under the clear skies of New Zealand—would grant us all long and happy lives.

The truth is, nobody knows why one person lives and another dies. Sometimes it's in the genes and other times in the environment. Sometimes it's a matter of being in the wrong place at the wrong time when the safe is falling from the third-story window. While stewardship of our bodies is a virtue, by no means does it come with guarantees. We are born into uncertainty and live subject to the forces of time and space and other people's choices. Atoms dance and merge, cells multiply, and planets fly on invisible rings of gravity. We are governed by the seen and the unseen, and likewise influenced by what we've done and failed to do.

Living with uncertainty

Most of us hate the lack of control that mortality implies. So we buy insurance, build fortresses, and try to play by the rules well enough to circumvent whatever consequences we fear. How can we win a game we are born to lose?

We apply ourselves in the attempt to overrule the material forces of corruption and decay but rarely spend much time in the acquisition of less temporal goods. Take wisdom, for example. This divine gift trumps human understanding every time, and yet more people pursue the information of our age than wisdom's timeless insights. Part of this inclination is governed by our desire for control, again: scouring the internet for a fact that might save us depends only on our initiative, while attending on wisdom means waiting for God to supply what we lack. Yet wisdom teaches us that the "paths of those on earth" are made straight by wisdom and not by the "deliberations of mortals." Meanwhile we are too busy deliberating to hear this, and the path of history accumulates more crooks and bends.

Human understanding often fails

Human understanding sees things from one perspective—which is, not surprisingly, ours. Attempts at objectivity may get us up above our own idiosyncrasies but rarely much higher than those of our species. Ultimately our view suffers from the divisions that permeate our minds and hearts. We think black and white; we judge good and bad. In Saint Paul's terms, we distinguish between those in chains and those at liberty, not realizing that we are all in the chains of sin, and all offered the freedom of the children of God. Only wisdom can give us eyes to see this.

Paul does some theological sleight-of-hand in his correspondence with Philemon. First he calls himself a prisoner and then claims the power to retain or to liberate Onesimus from his service. Do prisoners have the power to set free? Paul knows that Onesimus is technically a slave, but he takes him as a son—as if the distinction between a servant and a family member were negotiable. He sends the man back to Philemon as both slave and brother in the Lord. What is Philemon to do?

Paul is Philemon's teacher yet calls him a partner, erasing the obligation of obedience that a student would owe. Instead, Paul liberates Philemon to make his own choices. We hope that Philemon has learned to see with the eyes of faith and chooses wisely.

The debtor and the debt

Jesus told many stories in which justice is not served—at least, not justice by human terms. Consider the parable of the debtor whose king writes off his huge debt out of compassion. That's not right, we say. The man owes, and the man should pay! But then, something even more unjust happens: The man who was forgiven his great debt goes out and throttles another debtor for a much lower sum. That's not right either, we declare. He should show the mercy that was shown him! Finally, the original debtor is brought back before his king and handed over to torturers to pay back the whole debt that was remitted at the start of the story. Hey, we say at last: What's going on here?

Like Paul with Philemon, Jesus redefines the terms of the debate. In this case, the matter of who deserves forgiveness comes out with the surprising answer: no one! Forgiveness is a gift freely and graciously given. It is not a right to be earned or a privilege denied. We can't buy or expect or demand it. At the same time, we darn well better not withhold it from others.

Bigger than boundaries

There are unknowns we know and those we don't know, as the now-famous military quote goes. The truth is we don't even know what we think we know. That's why trust is crucial, and trust in God is the only true source of life. Mortality puts us in the cheap seats of history, and we can't see much from here. We certainly are in no position to judge, condemn, pontificate, or exclude. Best to leave the rulings to God and practice acceptance and forgiveness—in hopes of more of the same.

OUR LADY OF GRACE HOLIDAY ANGELS PROGRAM 2019

As we anticipate the holidays, often our appreciation of what we have turns into a desire to help those in need. You are invited to be an “Angel” by adopting an East County family in immediate need of life’s basics during the holidays. Simply follow these steps:

1. Complete the form below, cut it on the dotted line, place it in an envelope labeled, “Holiday Angel-Family Request,” and drop it in the collection basket or in the OLG parish office.
2. Next, on the weekends of Oct 26-27 and Nov. 2-3, find the angel program table at the main entrance of the church. Stop by before or after Mass to pick up your adoption envelope. It will include details about your adopted family and grocery suggestions. If you have chosen to adopt your family for Christmas, your envelope will also include the ages and clothes sizes for each member of the family and a Christmas wish list from the children. We hope the packages provide a holiday meal and staples for the cupboard; any other “extras” that you provide are wonderful and appreciated.
3. On Monday, Nov 25, if you are a Thanksgiving angel, you will deliver your grocery baskets to Moloney Center between 6:30—8:30 am. The baskets are picked up later that morning by the adopted families, so perishables like meat and butter must be frozen and produce should be as fresh as possible.
4. On Monday, Dec 16, if you are a Christmas angel, you will deliver your grocery baskets and gifts to Moloney Center between 6:30—8:30 am. The baskets are picked up later that morning by the adopted families, so perishables like meat and butter must be frozen and produce should be as fresh as possible.
5. We are a 100% volunteer ministry and cannot accept packages outside of the dates and times listed in number 3 and 4 above. Please be sure that you or your designee can drop off the packages at the appointed times. If a designee is assigned, we appreciate receiving the name and phone number by email in advance.
